I support doing away with the code requirement.